Review: NWRSS Board
Contact: Neal Rodwell, General Manager
Review Date: <January> <2017>

NWRSS is committed to providing equal employment opportunities to all people, ensuring that employees are treated equally and fairly regardless of age, gender, ethnic origin, marital status, disability, religion or political opinion, or any other attribute listed in the Anti-Discrimination Act 1998.

Equal Employment Opportunity aims to:

- Provide a workplace free of harassment and vilification
- Provide employees with the same chance to apply their skills and talents
- Identify and eliminate all discriminatory practices
- Select the best person for the job

Equal Employment Opportunity is about being able to attract and retain the most appropriately skilled and qualified employees. It should be seen as a way to promote equity, openness and sharing in the development of the organisation. NWRSS will provide existing and potential employees with equal and fair opportunities in terms of recruitment, promotion, transfer, training and conditions of employment during the course of their employment.
